Unit Profile

The Child Health Service provides multidisciplinary primary community care services for children who reside in the CHQ. The Child Health Service provides a child centred, family focused health service, which includes promotion of health and development, early detection and early intervention, and care coordination. This is achieved through enhancing opportunities for families to access support, developing linkages with community groups, building confidence and capability, and enhancing relationships between children and parents.

The Ellen Barron Family Centre (EBFC) is a multi-disciplinary, specialist child health service for families who require support with building practical skills and confidence in parenting. Services are offered to families living in Queensland, northern New South Wales and the Northern Territory. Please insert a brief outline of the unit.

Your Opportunity

The position of Registered Nurse will:

- Utilise foundation knowledge and skills specific to Child Health Nursing.
- Deliver client services for children and young people, individuals and groups, within the context of their family and community.
- Provide clinical and problem-solving skills in the full scope of child health nursing practice for the 0-5 year age group and their families/carers.
- Practice consistently with nursing professional standards and those of CHQ HHS.
