Purpose of the role

- This position is to play a key role in the delivery of a high quality geriatric and general medicine service within The Prince Charles Hospital. There is scope to develop new models of care as part of this role.
- The successful applicant will participate, if requested, in the provision of services in Clinical Service Networks (CSNs) within the Metro North Hospital and Health Service (HHS). Active participation in clinical teaching, research activities and quality assurance is also required.

Context and Delegations

- This role reports to Director, Geriatric and Subacute services and supervises advanced and basic physician trainees and junior medical staff.
- The successful applicant will work collaboratively within a team of geriatricians, rehabilitation physicians, general and sub-specialty physicians and the wider multi-disciplinary team.

Key Accountabilities

This successful applicant will carry out the following key accountabilities in accordance with the Metro North Health's values:

- Fulfil the accountabilities of this position in accordance with Queensland Health's core values, as outlined above.
- Provide geriatric and general medicine services to The Prince Charles Hospital and to Metro North HHS
- Provide clinical care for inpatient and outpatients.
- Duties will include after-hours care and rostered on call.
- Provide input in the development of relevant clinical models in the Metro North HHS
- Plan and participate in the provision of education programs for trainees in Internal Medicine and to postgraduate and undergraduate students in medicine, nursing and allied health.
- Participate in the training and supervision of Interns and House Officers.
- Attend relevant continuing educational activities within the HHS.
- Foster and undertake research in relevant aspects of Internal Medicine.
- Deliver efficient and effective health services within budget.
- Ensure quality health care by achieving and maintaining best practice and contributing to quality assurance activities within the HHS.

- Represent the HHS at professional and management meetings as appropriate.
- Liaise with external agencies and represent the Hospital on external committees as appropriate.

About Metro North Health

Delivering outstanding health services is just one of the ways that we care for our community. Our passion for people is reflected in the way we do our work and live our values every day. We value and nurture our team members so they can provide quality value based care to our patients across our diverse organisation. Our focus on Value Based Healthcare means we expect our staff to deliver the care the patient needs, no more and no less, to achieve the best quality of life for our community. This passion fuels our collaborative culture of innovation and research.

We embrace the diversity of local and greater communities as we provide services to people throughout Queensland, northern New South Wales and the Northern Territory, in all major health specialities including medicine, surgery, mental health, cancer care, trauma, women's and newborn care, and more than 30 sub-specialities. Metro North Health services include rural, regional and tertiary hospitals, and community and oral health services.

Our diverse Health Service provides a wide variety of rewarding career paths across our tertiary/quaternary referral hospitals, secondary hospitals, community health centres, residential and extended care facilities and regional community hospitals. We expect our staff and volunteers to translate our values into action through providing high quality connected care that is relevant, efficient and respectful of our patients' needs and wishes. Our people are passionate about our community and patients, with a focus on putting people first. Come and work where people are at the centre of everything we do and your contribution is truly valued.

Health Equity and Racism

Metro North Health has set out its actions and agreed key performance measures to improve Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people's health and wellbeing outcomes.

Racism is a key structural determinant of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people's health inequity. Racism is not always conscious, explicit, or readily visible - often it is systemic. Systemic or institutional racism are forms of racism that are widely and deeply embedded in systems, laws, written or unwritten policies and well-established practices and beliefs that produce, condone, and perpetuate widespread unfair treatment, causing and/or contributing to inherited disadvantage.

It is expected that all Metro North Health staff, including the incumbent of this role as a valuable member of the Metro North workforce, contribute to the health equity agenda and meet the intent of supporting the defined six actions that specifically meet the needs of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people within the National Safety and Quality Health Service Standards (NSQHS), by actively supporting the elimination of racial discrimination and institutional racism; supporting increased access to health care; influencing the social, cultural and economic determinants of health; supporting the delivery of sustainable, culturally safe and responsive health services; and recognise the importance of working with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, communities and organisations to design, deliver, monitor and review the health and support services we provide.
